

Russia Again Rejects Air Inspection Plan

Ministers Exchange Angry Words

GENEVA (AP) — Russia again rejected the Eisenhower aerial inspection plan Friday night despite an American offer to extend it to as many as 50 other nations.

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles pleaded vainly with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to accept the plan on this new global basis.

Molotov replied that Dulles had "not dealt with the Soviet delegation's objections."

With angry words, the Big Four foreign ministers exchanged condemnations of rival East and West disarmament programs they had submitted Thursday to their deadlocked conference.

After Molotov's new rebuff of Eisenhower's "open skies" idea, Dulles declared:

"The Soviet proposals are a cruel deception which is sought to be perpetrated on peoples of the world for propaganda purposes."

As for the three Allies' proposals, Molotov charged that, "They do not contain a single provision that would guarantee any practical step to terminate the armaments race and to prohibit atomic weapons."

He added: "The Western proposals even legalize the employment of atomic weapons . . . contradicting the honor and conscience of humanity."

"The Western Powers are now retreating and trying to nullify results that were achieved (in earlier disarmament discussions)."

The stormy 11th session brought an announcement by Molotov as the day's chairman that the Big Four would terminate their Geneva negotiations next Wednesday.

Another round of disarmament arguments is slated for Saturday. On Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning, the foreign ministers will discuss developments of East-West contacts. Their experts committee disbanded Thursday without agreement on any recommendation on contacts.

The foreign ministers again will take up on Tuesday afternoon the questions of European security and German reunification. They have clashed on these since the opening debate Oct. 27.

They will devote Wednesday to trying to agree on a communique with which to end the three-week conference. It may at least faintly reflect "the Geneva spirit" which shone here for the summit conference.

Stock Market Registers Another Recovery Peak

NEW YORK (AP)—Gains of around $1 to $5 a share sent the stock market to another recovery peak Friday in quiet Veterans Day trading.

The Associated Press 60-stock average gained $2.20 at $177.30, thus bringing the total ground recovered to more than two-thirds of the loss sustained following President Eisenhower's heart attack.

Friday's advance meant an estimated rise of about 2 1/2 billion dollars in the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

MINT HAS MYSTERY — WHERE ARE PENNIES?

DENVER (AP) — A mysterious shortage of pennies throughout the nation has caused 11-hour shifts at the U. S. Mint here.

Mrs. Alma K. Schneider, Mint superintendent, said Friday:

"It beats me and there's no explaining it but the penny demand is tremendous. Just a short time ago we had tremendous stores—pennies to a value of 75 million dollars right here. That backlog is gone and the squeeze has been on us for some while."

The Mint now is turning out 3 1/2 million pennies a day.

A puzzling aspect of the shortage, Mrs. Schneider said, is that the return of worn coins has not picked up.

AMERICANS IN JAPAN

TOKYO (AP)—There are more Americans in Japan than any other single foreign nationality except Koreans, the Justice Ministry reports.

There are 8,894 Americans registered with the ministry. This does not include military personnel, estimated at more than 180,000. There are 870,486 Koreans.

Stevenson Proposes U.N. Guard For Border Between Egypt, Israel

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson proposed Friday night that the United Nations mount guard on the flaming borders between Israel and her Arab neighbors, to enforce peace in the Middle East.

Stevenson, who is expected to announce next Tuesday he is a candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, did not mention in a speech to a University of Virginia audience how United Nations troops would be raised.

Boy, 13, Loses Life In Futile Effort To Save Father

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Michael Whalen gave up his life Friday in a futile attempt to rescue his drowning father from the Illinois River. Neither could swim.

A witness to the tragedy, C. B. Calhoun of Ottawa, said he was drawn to the river bank by calls of the victims. "The boy jumped in after his father," Calhoun said. Calhoun got a fishing pole and tried to reach the boy, but the youngster was swept away.

Sheriff Edward R. Lambert said the father, Leo Whalen, 43, apparently fell into the water while fishing from the bank with his son. The father was swept into a culvert.

Lambert said Mrs. Whalen was sitting in the Whalen car nearby but was unaware of the occurring tragedy.

The Whalen home is a farm near Cherry, in Bureau County.

Bodies of the father and son were recovered by a rescue team.

Italy Bans Export Of 30 Jet Fighters Ordered By Egypt

ROME (AP)—The West got a breather Friday in the perilous Middle East arms race as Italy announced she would ban export of 30 Italian-made jet fighters ordered by Egypt.

The 30 would have been in addition to 16 Vampire jets shipped earlier this year by a private Italian manufacturer in which the Italian government, ally of the West, was not involved.

Italy's announcement she would refuse export licenses for the obsolescent planes — manufactured under British license by the Macchi Works of Varese — may have saved the West from an embarrassing situation.

Up to now, the Soviet has caught the blame for the arms buildup which Western diplomats fear could lead to a major explosion between Arab states and Israel in the oil-rich area centered around the vital Suez Canal.

The Middle East crisis was precipitated when the Communist bloc sold 200 planes, 100 tanks, six submarines and other war equipment to Egypt's military government at cut-rate prices. Substantial deliveries already have been made.

The Italian Foreign Office, while denying knowledge of any Egyptian jet order or past delivery, said Italy would refuse export licenses, if asked for them.

WATCHMAN RETIRES

Report On Speech On Soviet Education Distorted: Dodge

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Dr. Homer Dodge, former president of Norwich University, said Thursday night a story of a speech he gave on Russian education Wednesday in Worcester, Mass., was reported "out of context and gave a completely distorted view" of his opinions.

The Associated Press carried a story on Dr. Dodge's speech at Worcester Polytechnic Institute which quoted him as saying "Russia has the finest system of education in the world."

Dr. Dodge said Thursday night "the words were probably correct" but were "out of context" as to "make the effect of the speech absolutely different" from what he actually said.

The educator, who spent a month recently in the Soviet Union with his son, Norton, said his talk dwelled largely on Russian scientific education.

But he left the clear implication he would be willing to support an American contribution of men toward the necessary guards he said might prevent the development of "all-out war."

"A major effort of statesmanship is required if we are to avert a political disaster in this troubled area," the 1952 presidential nominee declared. "We have shown little initiative within or outside the United Nations in devising measures to prevent these border incidents."

Stevenson said it seemed evident the way to avoid bloodshed was to "keep the troops of these antagonists apart."

"And I wonder if United Nations guards could not undertake patrol duties in the areas of tension and collision," he said. "Certainly both sides would respect United Nations patrols where they do not trust each other."

The Eisenhower administration has given no indication it would be willing to involve American troops in the Middle Eastern dispute, even as a part of any U.N. action.

The State Department has said it would be "strongly opposed to the side which starts a war" there. It has said the United States will furnish defensive weapons but enter no arms race with the Communists who are furnishing equipment to Egypt.

Stevenson cited the Arab-Israeli hostilities as part of what he said are "signs of disintegration of our whole security system" as the "rosy mists around last summer's meeting at the summit" fade away.

He said that what is needed now "is a great leap ahead in our thinking and our action." He said it was not enough to limit war but to abolish the means for war.

"The difficulties in the way of achieving an enforceable system of disarmament are immense," he said. "Maybe the problem is insoluble now as it has been in the past."

"But it seems to me that the urgency is such that we can settle for nothing less than a sustained and dogged search for effective disarmament with the best brains we can muster, and that we have no greater foreign policy objective."

BOY, 14, RESCUES TWO CHILDREN FROM FIRE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—William Robins, 14, made two trips to rescue two infants Friday in a fire at a rooming house.

Robins was treated for smoke inhalation at City Hospital, as were the two babies, Kenneth Moentmann Jr., 14 months, and his brother, Russell, 3 months.

Mrs. Patsy Moentmann, mother of the babies, had asked a neighbor who lives in the same house to keep an eye on them while she went shopping.

The neighbor had sat with the babies for a while and then had returned to her own apartment to check on her two children when the fire broke out.

Firemen reported a cigarette waste in the kitchen ignited some left paper and the blaze spread, setting fire to wallpaper in the kitchen and a dining room.

Report On Speech On Soviet Education Distorted: Dodge

A main point of his Wednesday speech, he said was that "the Russians have a very completely worked out plan of education and that is particularly the case in connection with scientific education."

"The Russians have a 'complete and thoroughly organized system' in the scientific field, Dr. Dodge said.

"Education in the non-scientific field might be satisfactory and well worked out from the Russian standpoint, but from the standpoint of the Western world it would be regarded as full of propaganda and distortions," he added.

Dr. Dodge said he explained at length in his speech he was referring to the Russian educational system as an organized plan of education.

Give Carpenter Death Sentence For Cop-Killing

CHICAGO (AP)—Cop-killer Richard Carpenter Friday night was convicted of murder and sentenced to death in the electric chair.

Attorneys for the husky, black-haired youth had asked the jury of eight men and four women only to find him not responsible for his acts because of insanity. Never during the five-day trial did they deny that he shot and killed detective William J. Murphy in a subway station Aug. 15.

But the state had insisted the shooting was cold blooded murder and demanded the death penalty. Carpenter received the verdict with a stony face. But he began kicking his guards as they led him from the courtroom. He was subdued and carried back to his cell.

The jury deliberated an hour and 15 minutes in reaching its verdict, ending a trial marked by a variety of eccentric courtroom antics by the defendant. He shouted, scratched, kicked and wrestled with bailiffs who guarded him and rolled on the courtroom floor.

He also staged a hunger strike during the trial.

Grieving Father Of Two Murdered Schoolboys Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—The grieving father of two of three murdered Chicago schoolboys died Friday after a heart attack.

Anton Schuessler Sr. succumbed to the weariness and exhaustion of first anxiety and then a ceaseless search for the killers of his only two sons and a playmate.

Dr. Julius Steinfeld said the father "very probably" suffered a heart attack while being given a "routine" electrical shock treatment for remedy of his "depressive state."

Schuessler, 42-year-old tailor, was the father of John, 13, and Anton Jr., 11, whose strangled bodies were found Oct. 18 in the Robinson Woods forest preserves. Also slain was 14-year-old Robert Peterson. The murders remain unsolved.

Schuessler closed his shop to help police work on the crime as well as pursue every angle he could develop on his own.

The strain showed and early Friday he entered the Forest Sanitarium and Guest House, a rest home, in suburban Des Plaines.

His wife, Eleanor, said then: "His nerves are shot. He's going to stay in the home at least a week, and maybe two, and get a complete rest."

Speaking of Schuessler's unrelenting search for the perpetrators of the vicious crime, she said: "The strain has been too much for him."

The strain was too much. Hours after Schuessler entered the rest home, his heart failed him and he died.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron, apprised of Schuessler's death, related that Schuessler had suffered a heart attack since the slayings of his sons.

Schuessler, he said, "was just fading away" at the time coroner's deputies spoke with him last week.

Bomber Crashes Into Destroyer, Killing Five Men

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A Navy bomber crashed into a destroyer during a simulated low-level attack off Southern California Friday, killing five men.

The dead were the bomber's crew of three and two crewmen of the destroyer, the USS Howell.

Five other men on the destroyer were burned, one of them seriously.

Headquarters of the commander of the Pacific Fleet Cruiser-Destroyer Force said the AD5N Douglas Skyraider was participating with other aircraft in the simulated attack on surface ships during maneuvers.

The Howell received "material" damage, the command said, to its superstructure near the forward stack and forward engine room.

Other ships aided in preventing spread of the flames from the bomber's fuel to the ammunition magazines.

The incident happened about 70 miles west of here.

The Pacific Fleet Air Command identified the dead fliers as: Lt. Cmdr. M. S. Essary, 40, pilot of the plane, whose widow lives in Coronado, Calif.

R. E. Stewart, 21, radarman, whose father, Charles R. Stewart, lives in Punxsutawney, Pa.

B. M. Phillips, 24, radarman, whose mother, Mary Jane Phillips, lives in Jamaica, N.Y.

Names of the destroyer's two dead were withheld until relatives are notified.

CAPITAL GREET EISENHOWER — Bunting and banners decorate Washington as crowds turn out to welcome president back home.

President Returns Home Looking Ruddy, Radiating Cheerfulness

WASHINGTON (AP) — A smiling, waving President Eisenhower came back to the capital Friday, telling a throng of welcomers that he has "a parole if not a pardon" from his doctors.

In brilliant sunshine, his friends and neighbors by the thousands jammed the airport and lined the bunting-decked streets of the capital to cheer the President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Moving a shade more slowly than he used to, but ruddy and radiating cheerfulness, the chief executive walked down the ramp from his airplane at 4 p.m. EST, five hours after leaving Denver where a heart attack had hospitalized him for seven weeks.

Dedicate Site Of Cowboy's Hall Of Fame

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The stirring saga of the Old West was revived here Friday amid a Hollywood-like blend of galloping horses, bugles and blaring microphones.

Twelve hundred horsemen, a full platform of founders and thousands of spectators who scrambled to vantage points around Persimmon Hill, joined in dedication ceremonies of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame site.

"This reminds me of a Warner Brothers movie," quipped Will Rogers Jr., son of the late famous Oklahoma cowboy-humorist and a top-trailer in his own right, Rogers flew here from Beverly Hills, Calif., to serve as master of ceremonies.

"The legend of the American cowboy, no matter how phoney, no matter how much Hollywood horses it up, still is the great symbol of America. What the knight in armor is to Europe, what the legend of Robin Hood is to England, so the story of the western cowboy is to this country," Rogers told the gathering.

Rogers stopped the show at the microphone, but the real stars were the cowboys and cowgirls, from 10 to 80.

Within a branding iron's length of a grizzled 82-year-old early time cowboy, Texas Joe Harden of Oklahoma City, sat a 10-year-old miss on a white horse.

A group of rodeo performers was headed by Buck Rutherford, champion cowboy of 1954 from Lenap, Okla., while Charles Tompkins of San Antonio, Tex., president of the Old Trail Drivers Assn. of Texas, paced the pioneer riders.

Officials of the hall of fame labeled this one of the biggest mounted parades ever staged.

Seventeen western states are joined in sponsoring the Cowboy Hall of Fame, to be a million-dollar museum and memorial to cowboys—both past and present.

STUDY FINANCE PLAN FOR CANCER RESEARCH

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Cancer Society is considering a plan to finance researchers on a long term basis, rather than on the year-to-year grants it now offers.

Dr. Harry Weaver, director of research, told members of the society's Illinois division Thursday night the ACS board will be asked to approve maintenance of a $200,000 fund for "career investigators."

"There has been a marked drop-off in the number of men going into cancer research because of the insecurity of the yearly grant," Weaver said.

"In order to make certain his grant will be renewed the next year, the investigator chooses a project which will permit quick results. But this frequently makes for superficial research."

U.S. Rejects Red Proposal For 2nd Meeting On Korea

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States rejected Friday Communist suggestions for a second conference on Korea unless the Reds show sincere signs of agreeing on a settlement.

The United States spoke in the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee immediately after that committee beat back a determined three-day fight by some Asian, Arab and Soviet delegates to invite North Korea. The vote was 34-14 against the proposal. Last year only the five Soviet bloc delegates voted to bring the North Koreans here.

Jacob Blaustein, Baltimore financier and civic leader, led the successful fight to bar the North Koreans and to invite South Korea. His proposal to hear the South Koreans was accepted 44-5 (Soviet bloc) with nine abstentions.

Blaustein said the Geneva conference in 1954 showed the Reds were more anxious to challenge the U. N. authority during the Korean War than to agree on unifying Korea. He said that not one of the Communist proposals for a conference contained the "slightest intimation that the Communists are at last ready to participate in genuinely free elections under United Nations supervision, an essential first step in a Korean Settlement."

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen the three doctors aboard the Columbine III examined the President just before the plane landed and reported, "There was absolutely no fatigue, as far as the President was concerned, on his flight."

To Insure Kubitschek Installation

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — A bloodless military coup ousted Provisional President Carlos Coimbra da Luz Friday. In a quick sequel, Congress named Senate President Nereu Ramos to succeed him as temporary chief executive.

The shift was aimed to help prevent the possibility of an uprising which would keep President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek, landslide winner at the polls last month, from taking office next Jan. 31 for his five-year term.

The navy and air force threatened for a while to back the ousted man but—after an interval in which fortress guns fired to keep the fleet in harbor — agreed to the change.

The Chamber of Deputies nominated Ramos, 66, by a vote of 185-72 at a hastily summoned special session to succeed Luz, who took refuge aboard a navy cruiser after being thrown out of office by the army before dawn. The Senate promptly approved this choice. Luz was officially declared unable to continue in office.

As head of the Chamber of Deputies, Luz had taken over as provisional president Tuesday from Joao Cafe Filho, who went on an indefinite leave of absence after suffering a heart attack.

The uprising was led by Gen. Henrique Teixeira Lott, who resigned only Thursday as war minister. It was based on the suspicion that Luz, as provisional chief executive, would pave the way for the rejection of Kubitschek as head of this nation.

Gen. Lott's professed aim is to insure the inauguration of the president-elect Jan. 31. Kubitschek was elected with leftist—including Communist—support. He is considered the political heir of the late President Getulio Vargas, who committed suicide last year after being given an ultimatum by elements of the armed forces to withdraw from office.

Cabled press dispatches were censored in Rio de Janeiro, but correspondents were able to accept telephone calls from outside the country and talk freely. The associated press was in telephone communication frequently with the Brazilian capital.

Luz belongs to the same Social Democratic party as Kubitschek, but adhered to a dissident faction which was believed to favor a scheme of some military leaders to prevent Kubitschek from taking office. But most military chieftains were reported convinced of the legality of Kubitschek's election and, along with Lott, were determined that the constitution should be observed.

SHIP FRAGMENT FOUND

EAGLE HARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A rotting chunk of wood is all that remains of the once proud steamer Illinois, famed as the first ship to pass through the Soo Locks 100 years ago.

The 90-foot long piece of wood, apparently a cross beam, was found near the tip of upper Michigan's northernmost point, the Keweenaw Peninsula.

The Illinois, which passed through the locks in 1855, went down in 1864 after striking a reef outside Eagle Harbor.

Friday's temperatures as recorded at the WILDS transmitter were as follows:

High was 65 at 2 p.m.; 6 a.m. 54; 10 a.m. 60; 1 p.m. 62; 4 p.m. 57 and 6 p.m. 55.

Sunset Saturday 4:45 p.m. Sunrise Sunday 6:44 a.m.

Forecast for Jacksonville and vicinity: Occasional rain Saturday. Colder and cloudy Sunday. High Saturday mid 60s. Low Saturday night upper 30s. High Sunday near 50.

NO 'SECOND CLASS' ALLIES

Reports from Geneva indicate that Western diplomats may have erred in their dealings with the representatives of West Germany on the scene. The Bonn officials are complaining of being treated as "second class" allies.

Some, thinking back to 1945 when Germany was still our prime enemy, may say: "What do they expect?" But that would miss the point. We have now accepted Bonn into the Western family. In fact we urged the move.

By this action we have accorded the German state equal status with America, Britain and France. Having done this, we cannot then revert to treating the men of Bonn like inferiors whom we are merely tolerating.

Chancellor Adenauer, a truly devoted friend of the West and of European unity, has often risked much at home to maintain good ties with us. We will only embarrass him politically if we behave as if his men were our lackeys. His situation is so delicate that carelessness or miscalculation on our part could seriously endanger his government.

In Hollywood

NEW YORK (AP)—"I've never been happier in my life."

That's what Marilyn Monroe said, and it appeared to be true. She smiles readily and talks excitedly about her interest in acting, plays, books and living in general. She also indicated she was ready for romance.

"My divorce decree (from Joe DiMaggio) became final—finally," she remarked. "I haven't been going out. But now—who knows?"

Marilyn's day in New York begins early. She's up around 6 o'clock—"I got into the habit when I was making movies."

She spends much of her mornings observing the classes of Lee Strasberg, the dramatic coach whose pupils included Marlon Brando, James Dean, Julie Harris, Shelley Winters. She also attends classes at his actors' studio. "I do all kinds of roles," she said.

But so far no Shakespeare. She reads Shakespeare, however. I asked her which plays of his she liked.

She pondered and then smiled. "No comment." She added: "I'm not going to get into the same thing I did with 'The Brothers Karamazov.'" She was aware of the vast amount of kidding she received for expressing a desire to do that Russian novel on the screen.

"It didn't bother me," she commented. "I knew they hadn't read the book. Or if they had, they had forgotten it."

"Actually, it would make a wonderful movie. Samuel Goldwyn himself told me that. I'll take his word for it."

When she isn't studying dramatics, Marilyn will often prowl around the museums and book stores. She enthused about a Metropolitan exhibit of Goya, her favorite artist.

Don't the crowd bother her? "Not terribly," she said. "I have a few disguises that work pretty well. I won't tell you what they are, because that would give me away. People often recognize me in museums, but they seem to leave me alone there. They don't come up to me, unless they're children."

She reads a great deal, is now plowing through James Joyce's great work, "Ulysses." It's a novel that baffles some college professors, but Marilyn said it makes sense.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court may have listened for the last time to arguments about racial segregation in any place—city or state—that is supported by public tax money, like a school beach, park, or playground.

It has already laid down the doctrine, giving its reasons at length, that this sort of segregation is unconstitutional. It may never again bother to give its reasons in ruling on any future case of this kind.

In any such case appealed to it from a lower federal court, the Supreme Court may simply say "affirmed" or "reversed," depending on whether the lower court has ruled in accordance with, or contrary to, the high court's doctrine.

An indication of this can be read into the way the Supreme Court handled a couple of segregation cases this week.

In any appeal to the high court from the ruling of a lower court, the lawyers on both sides state their arguments in writing. The nine justices of the Supreme Court get copies of these arguments.

The lawyers can't walk up before the justices and argue orally. It is only when the justices want more information than is contained in the written arguments that they ask the lawyers on both sides to appear in court and speak their piece.

In the 1890s the Supreme Court blessed segregation with a ruling which said Negroes could be kept out of public places reserved for whites, provided that the Negroes, while kept separate, were given public facilities equal to those of the whites. This became known as the doctrine of "Separate but Equal." For half a century no later Supreme Court knocked it down.

As a result, segregation continued in public schools and other public places throughout the South and in other states. But in 1954 the present Supreme Court unanimously wiped out the "separate but equal" doctrine in the case of public schools.

That kind of segregation, the court said, was unconstitutional and must stop. But this ruling dealt with schools. Did the Supreme Court mean segregation was illegal in other public places, too? For instance, in parks and playgrounds?

Already two test cases were moving through the lower courts. Maryland had segregated public parks and beaches. Georgia had segregated public golf courses. A U. S. Court of Appeals which covers Maryland cited the Supreme Court ruling in the school case, said it applied to parks and beaches, and ordered segregation in Maryland's public parks and beaches ended.

But another U. S. Court of Appeals, one which covered Georgia, ruled that it was all right to have segregation on public golf courses. Both cases were appealed to the Supreme Court.

The court considered the written arguments of the lawyers in both cases but called none of them to state their cases orally. It had heard long oral arguments in the school case.

The court, deciding its ruling against segregation in public schools applied to segregation in other public-supported places, apparently felt it neither had to listen to more oral arguments nor explain its own position further.

So, in rulings about as brief as it could make them, the high court did this:

It said the lower court was right in following the Supreme Court's lead by knocking out segregation in the Maryland case. It said the other lower court was wrong in ignoring the Supreme Court's lead and approving segregation on Georgia's golf links. That meant segregation on those golf links had to end.

Being broke is nothing to brag about, but people often write home about it.

We still haven't seen the last rose of summer. Stick around, bud!

Washington Press Corps Sees Nixon-Herter, Stevenson-Kefauver as Top '56 Election Timber

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Eighty-eight per cent of the Washington correspondents believe President Eisenhower will not be a candidate for re-election.

Forty-seven per cent of the newsmen believe that the Republicans cannot win the election if Ike isn't the candidate. But a close 46 per cent believe the GOP can win even if Ike doesn't run. Seven per cent won't hazard a guess on this point.

Seventy per cent of the correspondents now believe U. S. Chief Justice Earl Warren of California will not consent to become a candidate even if Eisenhower bows out. Twenty-four per cent think Warren will run. Six per cent are undecided.

But in another relatively close vote on a key question, 52 per cent of the correspondents believe the GOP National Convention will not nominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon to head the ticket if Ike doesn't run. Thirty-eight per cent believe the convention will nominate Nixon. Ten per cent express no opinion.

If the Washington press and radio corps were naming the likeliest 1956 candidates today, the tickets would be:

Democrats—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver; Republicans—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts.

THESE ARE THE highlights of post-card survey just made by NEA Service for this column. The poll was compiled one year ahead of Election Day, 1956, and on the eve of President Eisenhower's return to Washington from Denver.

In all, 1065 daily newspaper, magazine, radio and television correspondents accredited to the Congressional press galleries were polled. Three hundred and thirty answered the six top political questions put to them. A 30 per cent reply is considered a good return for a fair cross section on how reporters looked to the situation size up today's trends.

While the newsmen had definite yes-or-no opinions on the main political currents, they were all over the lot in naming their first, second and third choices for the likeliest presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

The only one who showed up with a clear majority lead was Governor Stevenson. He received 88 per cent first-choice votes, nine per cent second choice and two per cent third choice.

In second place, but not even close to Stevenson's total, was Gov. Averell Harriman of New York. He got five per cent first-choice, 50 per cent second-choice and 23 per cent third. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee ran third with three per cent first-choice, 23 per cent second-choice and 30 per cent third.

GOV. FRANK J. LAUSCHE of Ohio ran a poor fourth with only two votes to head the ticket. He got seven per cent as second-choice candidate and 15 per cent third choice.

Fourteen other Democrats—too many to name here—were suggested for the Presidency. But none got more than a few scattered votes.

For the Democratic vice-presidential nomination, Sen. Kefauver came out ahead with 34 per cent first-choice votes. Gov. Frank G.

Clement of Tennessee was second with nine per cent first-choice votes. Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota was third, but with only four per cent first-choice votes.

Surprisingly, Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, who was Stevenson's running mate in 1952, got only three-to-five per cent of either first, second or third choice for the vice-presidency. In all, 45 Democrats were suggested for the vice-presidency. This indicates how wide open this race may be.

ON THE REPUBLICAN tally, with only 11 per cent of the newsmen believing President Eisenhower will run for a second term, it followed naturally that only eight per cent gave him as their first choice. Vice President Nixon led the parade to head the GOP ticket with 41 per cent first-choice votes.

Chief Justice Warren was second with 19 per cent first-choice votes. President Eisenhower was third, and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Sen. William Knowland of California were tied for fourth with five per cent of the first-choice votes.

Twenty-six Republicans were named as Presidential possibilities. Aside from those mentioned, none got more than four votes.

Nixon also headed the poll as likeliest vice-presidential candidate with 17 per cent first-choice votes. Gov. Herter was next with 11 per cent first-choice votes. Harold Stassen of Minnesota and Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey tied for third place with 3.2 per cent of first, second and third-choice votes. Nobody else showed any strength at all. The reporters' votes were scattered among 53 extremely dark horses.

PUFFED KNEES IN PATIENT ARE CLUE TO POSSIBILITY OF RARE ALLERGY

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

To me, at least, the diagnosis of an unusual condition is the most interesting part of medicine and one such problem is brought up in today's first letter.

Q—Off and on for some two or three years, my knees (sometimes only one) will become slightly puffed and heavy. I have thought I could trace this to eating such things as ice cream, milkshakes, or chocolate candy with rich cream fillings. Does this sound plausible?

—Mrs. L. M.

A—I can only guess at the nature of this condition but it does suggest the possibility of a rare and peculiar condition of the joints known as intermittent hydrarthrosis. The striking feature of this condition is that it comes and goes periodically and has a tendency to effect the knee joint. This coming and going is usually rather regular, lasting four or five days and disappearing for 10 or 11. Its cause cannot often be definitely determined though frequently suspicion is thrown on some allergic condition and it is sometimes associated with hives. Of course, there are other possibilities in Mrs. M.'s case but it would be interesting for her to eliminate all foods containing chocolate to see what would happen to the trouble with her knees if she does so.

Q—I am 59 years old and all of a sudden developed a pain in my chest. The doctors said it was hardening of the arteries, but did not tell me anything else.

—Mrs. A. C.

A—A sudden pain such as described makes one think of difficulty with the coronary arteries supplying the heart muscle. There is, however, insufficient information in the letter to be sure and all one can say is that Mrs. C. should make every effort to have a diagnosis reached so that she will know how this should be handled.

Q—My 16-year-old daughter gets dizzy spells and is unable to remember things that happen during the day, such as conversations, classroom events, and the like. Is it something to be concerned about?

—Mrs. S.

A—Assuming that the girl is not just holding back from her mother on purpose, one would say that this is a fairly serious sign and that she should be taken to a nerve specialist or psychiatrist.

Q—Is it true that aspirin if taken directly before or after drinking beer or soda pop is fatal?

—Reader

A—Not ordinarily. There are some who become poisoned by aspirin and if one needs this drug for a headache or something else, it would doubtless be better to take it instead of beer or soda pop, rather than before or after these beverages.

Q—Should a person taking any form of medication be allowed to drink alcohol? I was always under the impression alcohol destroyed the tendency of drugs.

—Reader

A—The answer depends on the kind of drug and what it is taken for. But I should doubt that there are any drugs the action of which is helped by the simultaneous consumption of alcoholic beverages.

Q—Would you please explain why skin tests are sometimes positive when X-rays of the lungs do not show signs of tuberculosis?

—Mrs. B. A.

A—Ordinarily the skin tests for tuberculosis are positive when the person tested has been exposed to the germ causing tuberculosis and has had them in the system. Most people conquer these germs in small quantities but still develop the positive skin test. If the germs have not caused much of an inflammation in the lungs (where they most commonly go) the chest X-ray may show no signs of the tuberculosis infection even though skin tests have turned from negative to positive.

Some people prefer a light dessert after the massive Thanksgiving dinner. For them Mrs. Mary Ann Wipple of Oxnard, Calif., has a delightful suggestion—California cream.

Wife of a lemon grower, mother of four children, camper and boating enthusiast, in her spare time Mrs. Wipple finds time to serve really delicious food. These are her private recipes:

California Cream (Yield: 8 servings)
Two envelopes unflavored gelatin,
1 cup cold water, 1½ cups fresh orange juice, 1 cup fresh lemon juice, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind, 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 egg whites, 1 cup heavy cream, 24 fresh orange sections for garnish.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Place over hot water (not boiling) to melt. Mix with fruit juices, 1 cup of the sugar, grated orange rind, and lemon rind. Chill until the mixture is about as thick as fresh egg whites. In the meantime, add salt to egg whites and beat until they stand in soft peaks. Then, gradually beat in the remaining 1 cup sugar and fold into the gelatin mixture. Whip 1 cup of the heavy cream and fold into the mixture. Turn into an oiled 5-cup mold. Chill until firm and ready to serve. Unmold and top with the remaining heavy cream. Garnish each with fresh orange section.

Sautéed French Snap Beans (Yield: 6 servings)
One pound fresh snap beans, 1 inch boiling water in saucepan, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 medium onion, chopped, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted, 1 teaspoon ground black pepper, 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice, 6 small onion rings for garnish.

Snap ends off beans and wash. Split lengthwise and cut in half crosswise (French style). Place in a saucepan along with 1 inch boiling water and 1 teaspoon of the salt. Bring to boiling point and boil 3 minutes without cover. Then, cover and boil 10 minutes or until tender. Sauté onions in butter or margarine. Drain beans and add to sautéed onions. Cook until the butter begins to brown. Add black pepper, remaining salt and lemon juice. Toss lightly. Garnish with onion rings.

SUNDAY'S DINNER: Roast loin of pork, baked sweet potatoes, glazed apple rings, sautéed fresh snap beans, French style, brown and serve rolls, butter or margarine, grated carrot and fresh grape salad, mayonnaise, California cream, coffee, tea milk.

A Glance Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Myers Brothers Clothing Store marked its 40th anniversary.

Mrs. M. C. Hook of 1320 West Lafayette avenue presented the Morgan County Historical Society with two spikes from the first railroad in Illinois—the Northern Cross Railroad.

Veterans of two wars observed Armistice Day in Jacksonville.

An agriculture-industry conference was scheduled for Nov. 16 in Jacksonville.

20 YEARS AGO

Russell & Thompson, jewelers, celebrated 100 years of the store's business in Jacksonville.

Montgomery Ward Company held its annual kiddies bicycle parade. One hundred men were added to the W.P.A. rolls in Morgan county.

50 YEARS AGO

Ralph Darr, 23, formerly of Jacksonville, was killed at Randles, Mo., while working as a brakeman for the Cotton Belt railroad.

Q. H. Chapin of the railway mail service with headquarters in Chicago visited his brother, Captain Horace Chapin in Jacksonville.

Boyles Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—If on this veteran's day some aging gaffer starts reminiscing about St. Michel or Chateau Thierry, don't offend him by asking:

"What in the world are you talking about?"

Those words are carved deep in his heart—as are other words like "Belleau Wood" and the "Argonne Forest"—and he finds it saddening that a younger generation remembers so little of names that once stirred all America.

For it was in places like these he lost part of his youth. The Aisne-Marne looms larger in his memory than the Mason-Dixon line, and in his mind the poppies are still blowing in Flanders fields.

He is a survivor of the 20th century's first great conflict, and he feels that in his own lifetime his own sacrifices are now largely overlooked. And he is not without considerable justification for his viewpoint.

In every war many soldiers feel they are fighting on a forgotten front. The troops in the Pacific Islands felt that way in World War II. So did the troops in Italy.

"Do people back home think the whole war is being fought in Normandy?" was the popular complaint. "Don't they know there's a war going on here, too?"

Time has a way of dimming most wars, but they rarely are forgotten while the men who fought them are still alive. Many veterans of World War I, however, are gloomily convinced that their war has been forgotten pretty much by everyone except themselves.

The "retreads"—World War I veterans who also served in World War II—took a heavy verbal beating from their younger comrades, who often told them mockingly:

"Pop, never mind telling us about your little war. If you'd done the right kind of a job in your war to end all wars, we wouldn't be here fighting this one. Living!"

Q—I am 59 years old and all of a sudden developed a pain in my chest. The doctors said it was hardening of the arteries, but did not tell me anything else.

—Mrs. A. C.

A—A sudden pain such as described makes one think of difficulty with the coronary arteries supplying the heart muscle. There is, however, insufficient information in the letter to be sure and all one can say is that Mrs. C. should make every effort to have a diagnosis reached so that she will know how this should be handled.

Q—My 16-year-old daughter gets dizzy spells and is unable to remember things that happen during the day, such as conversations, classroom events, and the like. Is it something to be concerned about?

—Mrs. S.

A—Assuming that the girl is not just holding back from her mother on purpose, one would say that this is a fairly serious sign and that she should be taken to a nerve specialist or psychiatrist.

Q—Is it true that aspirin if taken directly before or after drinking beer or soda pop is fatal?

—Reader

A—Not ordinarily. There are some who become poisoned by aspirin and if one needs this drug for a headache or something else, it would doubtless be better to take it instead of beer or soda pop,

That's why we're over here—to finish the job you started."

And poor middle-aged pop had to take it and laugh. The kids had him outnumbered. They still do.

As of a year ago, America's veterans numbered twenty million. Of these some 80 per cent, or 15,424,000, were veterans of the World War —, and 3,033,000 had served since the start of the Korean campaign in June, 1950.

Pop is slowly being swallowed amid the masses of newer and younger veterans.

Yet it was in no bush league war that pop won both his scars and his medals.

It was a titanic conflict involving 27 nations and 65,038,810 troops. The total casualties were 37,508,686. Of whom 8,538,315 were killed in combat or died.

The American nation put 4,355,000 men under arms. It suffered 364,800 casualties, including 126,000 deaths. Some 17 nations still owe the United States more than 17 billion dollars from that war.

It was a war in which the submarine, airplane and tank—three decisive weapons of the World War II—first saw widespread battle use. Three weapons it lacked: "K" rations, the jeep, the atom bomb.

Time is steadily whittling down pop and his doughboy buddies of the past. A man drafted at 25 in 1917 today is 63 years old—only two years short of pension age. An American Legion friend of mine estimated several years ago that World War I veterans were dying at the rate of 84 a day. They are reaching age levels now where death calls more often.

Pop can be forgiven if now and then he grumbles. "The only guy in our crowd that hasn't been forgotten is the unknown soldier."

So now on veteran's day, let's lift a glass to the some real vintage soldiers of the years 1917-18.

"Thanks, pop, thanks! Keep living!"

Birthday Each 10 Years Gets Solid Endorsement

When her 71st birthday rolled around recently Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt announced that she wasn't celebrating it.

Furthermore, she said, from here on in she is going to celebrate her birthdays every five years instead of annually.

No doubt many other women getting along in years will decide a birthday every five years is a fine idea and make it their own birthday policy.

Wouldn't it be an even better idea if women started at age 20 to celebrate their birthdays just once in every 10 years?

That way a woman could think of herself as 20—until she hits 30, as 30 until she hits 40, as 40 until she reaches 50—and so on.

There wouldn't be the annual checkup in the mirror for signs of increasing age, so depressing to a woman. There wouldn't be the yearly consciousness of growing older. Instead there would be a reckoning only once every 10 years.

LOSE BIRTHDAY LOOT BUT STAY YOUNGER

Women who turn 25 often start thinking of themselves as "getting there" would be another decided advantage, too.

So they "feel 30" several years before they actually hit that milestone.

The birthday every 10 years ought to help a woman avoid feeling a certain age before she gets to it.

Want to try it, girls? All you have to do is announce to your family and friends that from now on your birthdays are going to be 10-year milestones.

Of course, you'll lose a lot of birthday loot that way. But it ought to be worth it to skip those yearly reminders that you are getting older.

If Claire's mother wants her school books moved from the kitchen table, she'll use one of two alternatives. She may move the books herself. Or she may tell Claire to move them—and engage herself in a battle with Claire's "stubbornness" that may or may not end in sullen obedience.

Neither alternative is good. For no matter which one Claire's mother chooses, it increases resentment at her child. If she moves the MURRAYVILLE—The Friendly Neighbors club met recently at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Loneragan. There were 17 members and seven guests present. Members decided to meet at 1:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 17, and continue at that early meeting hour during the winter months.

The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Dorothy White. Roll call was answered by naming one's favorite radio or T-V program personally. Mrs. Alice Leatham, program leader, presented an article from Town Journal, Will You Have to Pay to See Television.

Mrs. Helen Saxer led the game period and prizes went to Mary Langdon, and May Mason. Guests present were Mrs. Frances Mutch, Debra Saxer, Joyce and Gordon White, Sue Langdon and Joyce Loneragan.

Each member is to take an article for a silent auction at the next meeting, Nov. 17, at the home of Mrs. Alice Leatham.

Ag Department Rejects Pork Bids

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says it has turned down all offers received this week to sell canned pork products to the government under the recently announced pork products purchase program. It had accepted bids on lard.

The department said Thursday the prices quoted were not considered to be in proper relation to hog prices now being received by farmers. The prices submitted by the processors presumably were too high.

Secretary Benson recently announced that up to 85 million dollars worth of pork and lard would be bought in an effort to bolster dropping hog prices.

Marcus Infant's Kidnap To Go To Mental Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Housewife Betty Jean Benedicto will go to a state mental institution instead of standing trial for the kidnaping of a 2-year-old boy from a hospital here.

The 27-year-old Stockton, Calif., woman was declared insane Thursday by Judge John B. Molinari after four psychiatrists testified she is insane.

Mrs. Benedicto had confessed she took the infant Sept. 19. Nine days later she telephoned the father, Dr. Sanford Marcus, to come to Stockton and recover his son.

Judge Molinari said Mrs. Benedicto would have to stand trial for kidnaping if she regains her sanity.

Says Promoted Officials Tried To Halt Tax Probe

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A federal judge has strongly denounced promotions for internal revenue officials who he said tried to block an investigation into reported tax scandals.

U. S. District Judge George H. Moore, just after sentencing a man for perjury in connection with an income tax case, said from the bench Thursday that except for cases against tax evaders themselves only two indictments have been returned "against people who took an active part in this matter."

"The ones in Washington have not been dealt with yet," the judge added.

Judge Moore, 77, criticized T. Coleman Andrews, who recently resigned as internal revenue commissioner. He named no other revenue officials.

"Practically every internal revenue official who came in trying to block this court and the grand jury, almost without exception, has been promoted and in some instances promoted more than once," Judge Moore said.

"The situation has not been cleaned up. I believe the people who corrupted officials should be prosecuted and the officials themselves as well as those who evaded their taxes."

The current grand jury here is investigating handling by the government of the prosecution of income tax cases during the Truman administration.

Judge Moore made his remarks after sentencing Carlisle Cooper, St. Louis auto dealer, to five years in prison on a perjury conviction. Cooper had been accused of telling tax agents he did not receive premiums above invoice prices for autos sold just after World War II. During his trial 11 witnesses testified they paid such premiums.

Judge Moore, in assessing the maximum prison term, ordered him taken "to the penitentiary as soon as possible."

Dr. White To Gather Heart Disease Data

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist directing President Eisenhower's treatment, began a nationwide survey among doctors today to learn how common such heart disease is in America and what has happened to the victims.

The survey will determine how many have had acute coronary thrombosis attacks like that of the President, what percentage are still alive and what proportion have been able to return to work.

In a letter published in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Assn., he asked "all physicians in this country" to supply him by letter with information on their heart patients.

He said he is seeking the data "since the current illness of President Eisenhower has brought acute coronary thrombosis still more into the limelight than it has ever been before and since it is important to have more information on the prevalence of this disease in the United States today."

A spokesman for the AMA Journal said Dr. White did not say what he intended to do with the information.

Dr. White, who visited with the President Thursday and was to fly back to Washington with him today, could not be reached immediately for comment.

Dr. White requested physicians to supply him with this information:

1. The number of patients they attended who suffered acute coronary thrombosis heart attacks from Sept. 24—the day Mr. Eisenhower was stricken—through Oct. 23.
2. The victims' sex and ages, their occupations and their national origins, and the length of time between the attacks and any deaths.
3. How many patients who suffered such heart attacks more than three months before that of the President are still living.
4. How many of these patients are back at full-time or part-time work, invalided or already retired before the attack, or who have retired since on the basis of age.

He urged that physicians who see his notice advise other physicians about it "and try to get as many as possible to send in their answers."

Finds 'No Basis' For Charge Woman Poisoned Two Boys

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The district attorney's office found "no basis whatsoever" for charging Mrs. Mary Moss Falcon with murder in the poisoning of two small boys.

The 30-year-old red-haired woman walked out of jail Thursday night after posting a $2,500 bond in an unrelated aggravated battery case.

She denied that she had anything to do with the deaths of the two Baughman boys, William, 7, and Lawrence, 6.

Police arrested Mrs. Falcon Monday night when she returned to the tenement house where the Baughman boys lived with their parents and five sisters in a single room.

The boys died Oct. 31 in Charity Hospital a few hours after they were taken from the tenement on complaint of neighbors, who said the children rooted for food in garbage cans and begged meals door to door.

The coroner's office classified their deaths as accidental poisoning from eating a phosphorus compound of a type used in rat and roach poisons.

Homicide detectives found roach poison in Mrs. Falcon's room and contended she had vowed to "get even somehow" because Mrs. Helen Baughman, the boys' mother, ripped her blouse in a quarrel.

"We find no basis whatsoever in the evidence presented for prosecuting Mrs. Ma. Falcon in connection with the death of these children, and we therefore refuse the charges," said Asst. Dist. Atty. Adrian Duplantier in a statement.

William and Helen Baughman, the parents, still face criminal neglect charges in the case. They have denied that the children had to beg and scavenge for food and often were locked out of the house.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service has discharged a $352,605 tax lien against the late Albert Bacon Fall, secretary of the Interior under the Harding Administration.

Fall was convicted of accepting a bribe in the notorious Teapot Dome oil scandal. He once owned a ranch at Three Rivers, N. M.

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY
Dept. U, 450 Park Avenue
New York 22, N. Y.

Nearly 16 centuries ago, a man named Augustine lived in a Roman colony in Africa. He was vain, greedy, lustful—in fact, few men have been less exemplary. Then, when in his early thirties, he began to be increasingly dissatisfied with his life.

One day, feeling particularly miserable, he went into his garden and wept. While weeping, he heard, from a neighboring house, the voice of a child saying again and again, "Take up and read. Take up and read."

Struck by these words, Augustine went to his room, opened his Bible, and read. And when he had finished reading the turning point in his life had been reached and passed and he was a man transformed.

Through the centuries men and women have gone to the Bible seeking, and have come away with their answer. For in no other book is there such truth, wisdom, and promise. That is why the American Bible Society has been at work for more than a century, bringing the Bible to millions of persons in more than 60 countries, translating it into hundreds of languages.

The Bible is everywhere, yours for the asking.

Take it up—and read.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Franklin M.Y.F. Wins Prize At Fall Festival

FRANKLIN — The Methodist Youth Fellowship held its annual fall festival at Bluffs Sunday evening. Most of the Methodist churches in the Jacksonville District were represented.

Franklin M. Y. F. won the prize for the largest number present and also the largest amount of money and food collected for the Baby Fold at Normal. Seventeen young people and their leader, Mr. Clarence Jewsbury, attended and contributed $70 in cash and food.

They enjoyed a banquet at 6:30 p.m. and the program followed. Mrs. Simms was the speaker.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Jean Belk had as dinner guests Sunday, her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hardin Whitlock and children, from Elmwood, Ill., and their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Britzweiser, from Alton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cox of Jacksonville visited her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Greenup Edwards, in Franklin Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jewsbury of Jacksonville visited their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jewsbury and children, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jewsbury had their home destroyed by the tornado that struck Jacksonville last summer. They will probably not rebuild before next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dahman and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jewsbury attended the annual duck supper at the Lynnville Methodist Church Tuesday evening.

Miss Sarah Ranson was in Jacksonville Monday, visiting her brother, Mr. Viron Ranson, who is quite ill at Passavant Hospital, and other friends confined there. Viron's condition remains about the same.

Home Ec Girls Present Program For Bluffs Club

BLUFFS—The Bluffs Woman's Club held its November meeting in the school lunch room Tuesday with members of the homemaking class as guests.

Who and How Taught and Why

Get the BEST For LESS St. Joseph ASPIRIN

The Bluffs School Homemaking program was the topic discussed by Mrs. Helen Ruckman, local instructor. Twenty-two students modeled 41 garments which included sports wear, casual school clothes, "dress-up" wear, and party attire in cotton fabrics of various weaves, corduroy, woolsens, and nylons which they had made.

The models included Bonny Andrus, Shirley Barfield, Janet Bailey, Barbara Beddingfield, Margie Buhlig, Carol Boehs, Betty Campbell, Louise Collison, Vesta Comerford, Wanda Cumby, Janet Daley, Roberta Ellison, Cecil Gregory, Joan Kroencke, Peggy Likes, Nancy Mains, Janice Meyer, Iva Northcutt, Carol Taylor, Pauline Six, Charlene Walker and Janet

Walker. The dress made by Fulton who was unable to be present was also shown.

Miss Donna Merris, who had been the club's guest at the Egyptian Music Camp at Duquoin last summer, gave a most interesting report of the weeks activities. The club voted to again send a representative this year.

The musical portion of the program was presented by Vicki Taylor who sang "The Bible Told Me So" and "Zachaeus" with her sister, Carol, at the piano.

Through the courtesy of the Celanese Corporation color slides, "Fresh View Point for the Home Decorator" were shown with Mrs. Virgil Coughlin presenting them. Two yards of decorator's materials in Celanese were awarded at the close of the program to Mrs. Floyd Hart and Mrs. Oliver Chambers. In observance of American Education Week the entire program was titled "The Magic of Hand Made Creations."

During the short business session with Mrs. Wendell Brackett presiding the club voted to contribute money to assist in the interior decoration of the Bluffs Public Library for the club project. Twenty-nine members answered roll call by naming their favorite dress.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Oliver Chambers, Mrs. Richard Hatfield, Mrs. Florence Brackett, Mrs. Charles Rolf, Jr., Mrs. Gus Andrus, Mrs. Ethel House, Mrs. Clyde Hullinger and Mrs. Richard Mains.

Now you can relieve RESTLESSNESS at night

Why go through life all tired out from getting up too often at night? Your trouble can come from lazy kidneys, which allow accumulation of irritating acid wastes.

Re-Enlists

HAROLD GARMAN

A Jacksonville young man, Harold Garman, son of Mrs. Olga Garman, 1427 South Main street and the late John Elzie Garman, re-enlisted in the Army Oct. 31. He will serve a three year term and is presently stationed in New Jersey.

Homer L. Lawder Becomes Captain In Navy Service

JERSEYVILLE — The rank of Captain in the U. S. Navy has been conferred on Homer L. Lawder, formerly a practicing physician in Jerseyville, who is now a Recruiting Officer stationed in Chicago.

Captain Lawder was in service during World War II, enlisting in the Navy in 1942, and receiving his discharge with the rank of Commander in October, 1946.

He has been director of the University of Illinois Health Service in Champaign and was an assistant professor of Hygiene at the University, going there from the Galesburg campus where he was health director from 1946 until the undergraduate branch was closed in 1950.

Captain Lawder reentered service with the Navy in September, 1954 and was assigned to the Recruiting station in Chicago. Mrs. Lawder and daughters retain their residence in Champaign, where the girls are attending school.

Dr. Lawder received his medical degree from the U. I. College of Medicine in Chicago in 1933 and interned at the City hospital in St. Louis. Before coming to Jerseyville he practiced his profession in Chester, Ill., and was prominent in educational work in that city serving as president of the board of education for a number of years.

GLASGOW P.T.A. TO MEET NOV. 22

GLASGOW—The Glasgow P.T.A. will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, Nov. 22.

Miss Nita Ford of Carrollton, music instructor in the Glasgow school, will show pictures of her recent travels to Florida and Cuba. Refreshments will be sandwiches and coffee.

The postponement from Nov. 18 to Nov. 22 is due to conflicting dates.

The greatest PACKARD of them all

The elegant new 1956 Packard 'Patrician'. From the impressive grille and hooded headlights to the distinctive hand along the side, here is styling that says "Packard" at a glance.

For 1956...with Advanced Torsion-Level Ride...Packard's Creative Engineering
Brings You America's Easiest-Handling and Safest-Riding Car

A New Luxury Car Makes Its Bow

The new Packard for 1956 brings you America's most powerful V-8 engine, Electronic Push-Button Control, distinguished styling, superior Packard craftsmanship, and advanced Torsion-Level Ride.

When Packard pioneered its full-length Torsion-Bar Suspension system, eliminating coil and leaf springs, engineers called it the greatest automotive achievement of our time. And 1955 Packard owners agreed...enthusiastically!

Easiest-Handling, Safest-Riding Car

Now, Torsion-Level Ride is further advanced...refined to provide even more of the comfort, handling ease and safety that you and your family deserve...and can get in no other fine car.

America's Most Powerful V-8

The new 310 horsepower Packard engine is America's biggest, most powerful V-8 engine! All Packard engines deliver more driving force to the rear wheels than those of any other car, yet use gasoline more efficiently than many smaller car engines.

New Electronic Push-Button Control

The superb Packard Ultramatic transmission features Electronic Push-Button Control...sprinting getaways or gliding starts are yours with electronic ease. Combined with this outstanding Packard automatic transmission is a new Packard-developed rear axle ratio that gives the economy of overdrive...another achievement of Creative Engineering in the greatest Packard of them all!

Crisp new lines of the exchingly fashioned rear deck blend with the clean-cut distinction of Packard taillights.

We invite you to drive America's Easiest-Handling, Safest-Riding Car

Woman Who Irked Organist Now May Go Back To Church

CHICAGO (AP) — Circuit Court, which had prohibited Harriet Davis from attending a suburban church on the ground she was annoying the organist, says she can go back to the services now.

The reasons for the court's ruling Thursday:

- (1) The injunction violated the 35-year-old woman's constitutional right to freedom of worship.
- (2) The organist now is playing at another church.

On the complaint of organist Robert Metzler, 50, the court last May restrained Miss Davis and her mother, Mrs. Belle Davis, 55, from attending services at the First Church of Christ Scientist in Glenview. Later the order was modified to exclude the mother.

Metzler's attorney told the court at the time that the women, whose home is located far from the church in question, always sat near the organ and stared steadfastly at Metzler. This the attorney said, annoyed Metzler, endangered his job and inclined Metzler to believe he was being badgered into matrimony.

Miss Davis denied any romantic intentions. She said that Metzler's music simply "sends me."

Metzler's attorney refused Thursday to say in what church the organist is playing now.

Day of the Outlaw

By Lee Wells

Copyright 1955, by Lee Wells. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: An outlaw pack, strained by inner dissension, is isolated by mud in Bitter, Wyo. They have taken over the town, murdered Sheriff Under, Tommy Rikes, and disarmed the residents. Dan Murdoch, foreman at the Star ranch, also marooned in Bitter, accompanies Vivian McLean to see Ava Darrow, Tommy's widow. There they meet one of the outlaws, Tex Darrow, who calls Vivian "Belle," and mentions "Wichita."

DAN slogged through the mud. Gorton's smithy was closed and the whole town looked deserted, pitifully small and helpless against the sweep of the plain and the loom of the high peaks beyond the buildings.

He entered the store. Vic, Bob and Phil stood at the far end of the center aisle, and they wheeled about on Dan's entrance.

"Glad you came," Phil said. "We can use your advice."

Dan joined them, touching his hatbrim to Ernie, who hovered near the big stove. Art Frazin sat on a barrel, his legs swinging, excitement in his face. The men stood in the cleared space between the stove and Vic's big desk, and Phil stepped aside to make room for Dan.

"Dan, we've got to do something about this situation," Phil snapped. He turned to Dan. "But what, Phil?" Vic demanded. "Every rifle and gun has been taken. And even if we had them, what chance would we have against those killers?"

"We have to protect ourselves," Phil snapped. He turned to Dan. "What do you think about it?" "I've been worried," Dan said at last. "But I don't get anywhere. Now there's a norther coming, and any chance of riding out for help is gone. Whatever we do, we got to do it ourselves."

"But we can't!" Vic insisted, his voice rising a note. Dan ignored him. Dan spoke slowly, thinking the problem out. "I think there's one chance, but it's risky."

"Anything," Phil said shortly. Dan glanced toward the door. "We don't have a gun among us but I guess we could always get ahold of clubs or a knife or two."

Vic stared. He licked his lips. "What are you trying to say?" "There's four of us. The gang is scattered all over town."

"And armed," Bob Frazin cut in. Dan nodded. "And armed. So one of 'em comes in right now, say Phil and Vic would get him to talking. At the right time, Bob and me would jump him. He wouldn't have a chance to use his gun. We'd get it. Tie him up and hide him in the storeroom."

"You're crazy!" Vic exclaimed in horror. Dan said evenly, "Then we'd get another one of 'em alone, only this time we'd have a gun. Then we'd have his . . . two guns now. That's the only way it can be done. But we'd all have to help one another."

Vic wrung his hands. "It won't work . . . it's too risky. If we make a slip with the first one, what will happen to us?" Dan shrugged. "You heard what Jack Bruhn said. It's something you have to face, Vic . . . all of us do. But it's the only way."

Ernie stirred and Dan's attention swung momentarily to her. She looked troubled, a bit frightened. "Maybe we'd better all think this over. We can talk again this afternoon and maybe it will look better by then. Think it over . . . good."

WITH a last backward look at the silent men about the stove, he stepped out on the porch. Dan's eyes lifted toward the northwest. The clouds were there, still far away and it seemed that the cold breeze had died somewhat it might veer off.

Then he saw Vivian working her way through the mud between the store and the smithy. Dan threw a swift glance at the saloon and waded out in the mud to meet the girl.

"I'm safe enough, Dan," she said, then added, almost like a command, "come with me."

He took her arm to help her through the gumbo. Looking toward the lumber yard he saw Paula Preston standing at the door of the office. Vivian saw Paula, too, then glanced sharply at Dan. He didn't notice.

They said nothing until they reached her home. It was the first time he had ever been in her house and he looked curiously around. The room was not large, almost a box. A plain rug was on the floor and some framed prints on the wall added spots of color to the brown paper. A lamp with flower-decorated globe sat on a small table near the window and a small stove against the far wall radiated a comfortable heat. Vivian untied her bonnet and indicated a horsehair sofa near the windows.

"Sit down, Dan. I'll be back in a minute."

HE heard her stir somewhere back in the house. Then he heard her steps again and she came in, bearing a tray that held a whisky bottle and shot glass. She placed them on the table by the lamp, poured a drink and turned, extending it to Dan. She caught his open surprise and she smiled, crookedly.

"Whisky," she said dryly, "and Wichita . . . they go together, don't they . . . all part of my past."

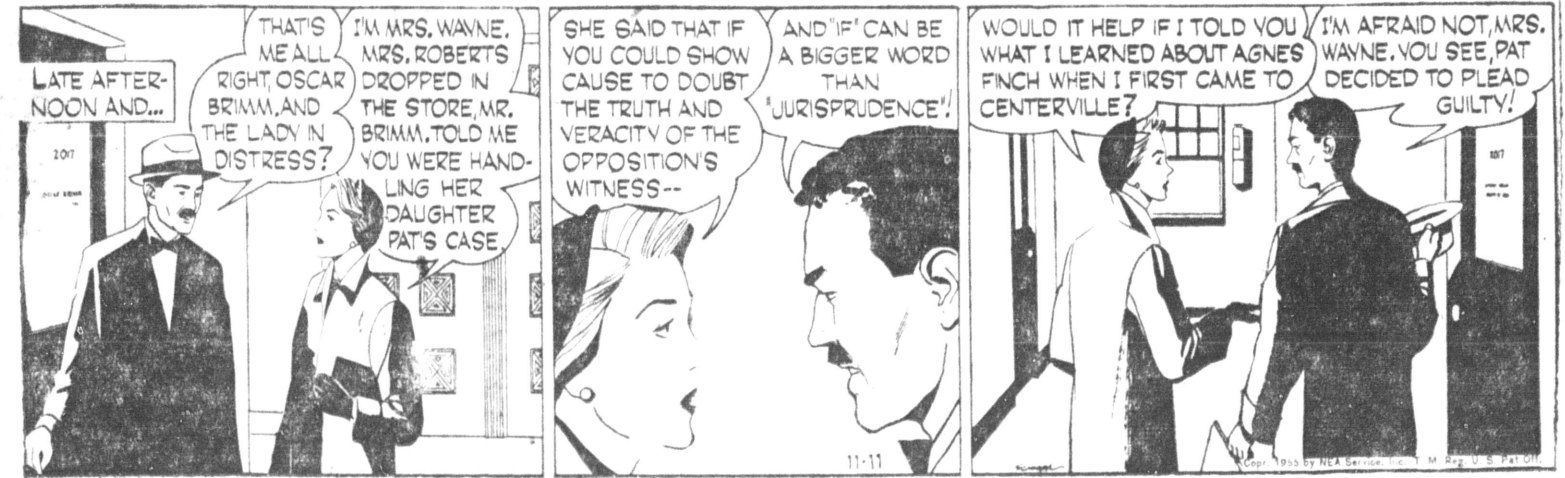

"Everyone has a past, Vivian," he said. "Or Belle . . . which do you like?" There was a bitterness in her voice. Then she turned. "I'm sorry, Dan. There are more important things. I'm worried about Ava."

"What about her?" "She's liable to do some crazy thing that will ruin her whole life, Dan. Tex Darrow is a lying, double-crossing devil . . . believe me, I know. Ava will fall for that."

Galva Rallies In 2nd Half To Hand Tigers First Setback 14-7

Once Beaten Michigan Faces Indiana Today

By JOHN BARBOUR

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (P) — Once-beaten Michigan, hoping for the Rose Bowl at the end of the Big Ten season, faces an aerial downpour Saturday from Indiana's Chick Cichowski, the Big Ten's leading passer.

Last year another Hoosier aerial artist, Florian Helinski, passed and bucked Indiana to a 13-9 upset over Michigan.

This year Michigan's Rose Bowl hopes are alive again, but Indiana could kill them for good by topping Michigan before an expected 57,000 fans in Michigan Stadium. A loss either to Indiana or to Ohio State next weekend would finish the Wolverines.

But Michigan is reeling from its first defeat of the season last Saturday by fired up Illinois. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan has been putting the spurs to his depressed Wolverines.

The Wolverine secondary will be coming off the injury list to withstand its first real pass defense test.

Indiana has been throwing more than one pass every four plays. Cichowski tosses most of them. He's got a whopping 608 pass completion average, hitting three out of every five tosses.

No team this season has seriously challenged Michigan's pass defense. The Wolverines have allowed an average of 55 air yards per Big Ten game. But conference opponents have passed little more than nine times a game against them.

Cichowski's passing, on the other hand, has gained more yards than his teammates' collective running in Big Ten competition.

Oosterbaan will be returning first string left halfback Terry Barr to action to bolster the Michigan defense. Barr is injured (pulled muscle) and will play at partial efficiency. His replacement, fast Jim Pace, is running on a wobbly ankle.

At the critical linebacking position of fullback, Oosterbaan has troubles too. First and second stringers Lou Baldacci and Dave Hill are nursing leg hurts for the third time this season.

Indiana will be in almost perfect shape.

Both Ohio State and Michigan State, the two conference powers who rival Michigan's Big Ten title hopes, squeaked by the Hoosiers with a one touchdown margin. Oosterbaan says, "They're a tough team all around — nobody scares them."

Culver-Stockton And Eureka Tie

CANTON, Mo. (P) — Culver-Stockton and Eureka College wound up their football seasons by playing to a 7-7 tie Friday. It was the third deadlock for Culver-Stockton, which won two games and lost four.

Eureka's Dick Tucker scored with an eight-yard run around left end in the first quarter and Jim Faber kicked the extra point.

Culver-Stockton tied the score in the second quarter, Larry Moore going 27 yards for the TD and Scott Scholle kicking the extra point.

Big Crowd Expected To See Maryland-Clemson Contest

By KEN ALYTA

CLEMSON, S. C. (P) — Maryland, No. 2 football team in the country, plays Clemson here Saturday with first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference and prime position in the race for an Orange Bowl berth against Oklahoma the prize.

An overflow homecoming day crowd of about 25,000 has been assured.

Maryland is a two-touchdown favorite — most everywhere but here in the lair of the Clemson tigers. The Terps are conceded to have a slight edge in the line, but Clemson's forward wall is no weak sister and it has a brilliant backfield operating back of it.

Duke, which has won its only conference game, could come on to tie the winner here by taking its three remaining conference games. However, Duke got the bowl nod against Nebraska last Jan. 1 and has lost one-sided games to Pittsburgh and Georgia Tech. This apparently leaves the bowl issue between Maryland and Clemson. Each has a 3-0 conference record and closes its league season Saturday.

Maryland has won its last 13 games, eight of them this season. Last week's victory over Louisiana State by a modest 13-0 score resulted in the Terps dropping from No.

GALVA — (Special) — The Illinois School for the Deaf Tigers dropped their first contest of the year here last night and thus ended their chance of going undefeated for the first time since 1928 as they lost to Galva 14-7.

The Tigers of Jim Spink completely dominated play in the first half and scored one touchdown to take a 7-0 lead. The lone Tiger TD came on a 15 yard pass play from Al Duncan to Paul Mehring. Mehring also got the point after touchdown.

However, the second half was a different story as the hosts took to the air and scored twice to win the contest, their seventh victory of the year. The hosts scored both times in the third quarter. The first touchdown came on a 30 yard pass play from Garth Youngberg to Bob Anderson. Stan Nelson added the extra point. The second Galva score came on a 35 yard gallop by Bill Hopkins. Nelson also got the extra point.

The Tigers had Galva bottled up in the first half, but it was the long aerial attack that killed the ISD chances.

Tim Barclay had this to say following the game, "ISD is the hardest blocking team I've ever seen in high school."

The Tigers went into last night's game with a 8-0 record for their season's effort and were one of the six undefeated teams in downstate Illinois.

By quarters:

Pittsfield Rips Winchester 39-0 In IVL Finale

PITTSFIELD — (Special) — The Pittsfield Saukees ended their 1955 season without a defeat as they scored a 39-0 victory over Winchester in the final Illinois Valley league contest of the season for both sides. Coach Glenn Smith's Saukees compiled a 6-0-1 record in conference play to tie with Jerseyville for the loop title. Jerseyville and Pittsfield battled to a 0-0 deadlock.

The hosts scored in every quarter but the first. David Ruble got the first TD on a 15 yard march and also added the extra point. Sanderson scored the other TD of the second quarter on a 10 yard run.

Paul Smith scored for the winners in the third quarter on a three yard plunge and a pass from Plattner to Petty added the PAT. The longest run of the contest was a 60 yard gallop by Plattner on a quarterback sneak. The other two Pittsfield touchdowns came on a 30 yard pass from Sanderson to Freeman and a one yard smash by Allen. Paul Smith got one extra point.

Handlin scored for Carrollton. Cole tallied for Greenfield on a quarterback sneak. Briggs added the point after for the Tigers. The win gives the Tigers a 2-5-2 record for the season.

Greenfield Nips Carrollton 7-6

GREENFIELD — (Special) — Greenfield and Carrollton both scored in the second quarter but the hosts added their extra point to defeat the visitors 7-6 in one of the top Illinois Valley's annual attractions.

Handlin scored for Carrollton. Cole tallied for Greenfield on a quarterback sneak. Briggs added the point after for the Tigers. The win gives the Tigers a 2-5-2 record for the season.

SPORTS TRAIL

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (P) — Calvin Griffith, who has started his campaign to give Washington a better baseball club by dealing them off the top, getting rid of two of his best players in the nine-player deal with the Boston Red Sox, seems to know what he wants. Or what Charley Dressen wants.

He promises to keep dealing until he has Dressen's kind of a ball club — young, swift and eager.

"My kind of a ball club!" Where have we heard that song before? Could the words be an echo from the Polo Grounds? It does seem that a fellow named Leo Durocher used the phrase as a battle cry when he took over as manager of the New York Giants in 1948.

He hadn't liked what he saw, which was a collection of heavy-footed athletes of widely-varying ages who could hit home runs on the slightest provocation, but who somehow managed to lose ball games in alarming numbers.

It wasn't "my kind of a ball club," Durocher said in his usual dulcet voice, and he proceeded to do something about it without tarrying. The heavier-footed of the heavy-footed players were shipped away willy-nilly, deals brought in fleet, scrappy men who didn't need a home run behind them to push them around the bases.

Pitchers arrived who could start and still be around for the seventh-inning stretch.

It took just three years, and Durocher had "my kind of a ball club," good enough to win a pennant, and to repeat three years later. Something happened this year. "My kind of a ball club" somehow unaccountably became nobody's kind of ball club.

Figuring that "my kind of ball club" is a club that can win a pennant, Dressen was bequeathed one when he took over as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1951. The Bums didn't win that year, but they came within one pitch of it in the playoff, and went on to win for Charley in 1952 and 1953.

When you come right down to it, the manager who can win when he doesn't have his kind of a ball club is the manager who is doing the job. Any manager should win with the equipment he wants, unless his idea of what it takes to win is all wet.

Every manager has a general idea of the kind of team he wants. He wants plenty of power. He wants speed on the bases, fleet fielders and base runners, a top-flight catcher, and a collection of A-1 pitchers.

Particularly a collection of A-1 pitchers. That's the payoff, and Dressen probably could have won with the Washington club this year if he could have had his choice of pitchers from other clubs.

A team may be young, swift and eager, having all the qualifications Charley has set down, but if it doesn't have pitching it will be lucky to finish before Christmas.

It's true certain managers favor certain styles of play. Bill McKenchie won a couple of pennants at Cincinnati with a team which other managers might not consider ideal. He specialized in good pitching and a tight defense, making one run do the work of a half dozen. But for him it was satisfactory. He didn't want to overpower the opposition. He was satisfied to win by finesse.

Joe McCarthy and Casey Stengel and Miller Huggins, all of whom had more than a little success with the Yankees, weren't adverse to having strong-armed hitters, although it's also true they insisted on a tight defense and had better than fair pitching.

So "my kind of team" can mean a lot of things, but when it comes right down to it, it means a team that can win. Dressen obviously has given Griffith a blueprint, or maybe just pointed to the Dodgers and said: "I want that."

Western Jars St. Ambrose 19-13

MACOMB, Ill. (P) — Western Illinois State College snatched a 19-13 victory in the final minute of a football game with St. Ambrose of Davenport, Iowa, Friday.

The visiting Bees held a 13-12 edge when Western's quarterback, Bill Vardemerk, hit with a series of passes which advanced the Leathernecks from their own 38 to the St. Ambrose four.

Don Lashmet plunged for the touchdown with only 25 seconds unused.

RUSSIANS WILL SEND 145 ATHLETES TO WINTER OLYMPICS

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (P) — Soviet Russia will send a swarm of 145 athletes, officials and delegates here in an all-out effort to dominate the 1956 winter Olympics, the first it ever has entered. That's five more than will represent the United States, which has the second largest squad. The Italian Olympic organizers disclosed this Friday.

Fighting Illini Face Stubborn Wisconsin In Today's TV Game

MADISON, Wis. (P) — Wisconsin winds up its home football season against Illinois at Camp Randall Stadium Saturday in a Big Ten game that may signal the end of Badger boss Ivy Williamson's active coaching career.

Waldo Fisher May Become NW Athletic Director

EVANSTON, Ill. (P) — A man associated with Northwestern athletics for 31 years, basketball coach Waldo Fisher, may become the new athletic director expected to restore the Wildcats to football respectability.

Fisher, 49, an athletic staff member ever since his graduation in 1928 after four years of Northwestern stardom, is most prominently mentioned as successor to Ted Payseur, who was "kicked upstairs."

School president J. Roscoe Miller Thursday announced that Payseur was relieved of the athletic director's post to become an assistant business manager of the university "for athletics."

The move obviously was directed entirely at reorganizing a football program which has produced only one Big Ten victory in 17 games since 1953 and this season finds the Wildcats winless in seven starts.

The new athletic director will have in his hands the fate of Lou Saban, nearing the end of a one-year contract as new head football coach succeeding harassed Bob Voigts.

Voigts quit early this year under alumni pressure.

Whatever his decision on Saban's future, the incoming athletic director has the blessing of president Miller to "evolve a program consistent" with Big Ten standards.

This points at a stepped-up hunt for football talent, comparable to the better-manned squads which are attracted to other Big Ten schools.

Today's College Grid Activity May Produce Year's Oddest Results

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A football takes some funny bounces and so do football games. And while the effects of rebounds by beaten teams are well known, there's another bouncing factor that may produce some odd results in Saturday's major college games.

A team that has won a few big games and starts looking past a lightly-regarded opponent is likely to suffer a letdown with painful consequences. About half the teams listed in the nation's top ten in this week's Associated Press poll fall into that classification while only one is among the rebounders.

Starting at the top, unbeaten Oklahoma, ranked No. 1, could be looking right past Iowa State toward next week's tilt with Nebraska, which currently is tied with the Sooners for the Big Seven lead.

UCLA, No. 4, faces a so-so Washington team before its Pacific Coast Conference title bout with Southern California.

Notre Dame, No. 5, almost had its letdown against Penn last week but won handsily after a first half scare. The Irish face a similar situation Saturday against North Carolina with the big ones against Iowa and Southern California still in the future.

Texas A. and M., No. 9, the Southwest Conference leader, plays Rice, the last-place team in that league, Ohio State, No. 10, the Big Ten pace-setter, has a fairly rugged assignment against Iowa but the decisive game against Michigan is Williamson, one of the most successful coaches in the business, reportedly is in line to succeed the late Guy M. Sundt as athletic director at Wisconsin.

An announcement on Sundt's successor is expected shortly. If Williamson takes the front office job, he reportedly will turn over the coaching reins to line coach Milt Bruhn.

The fifth straight sellout crowd of the season, 53,529, is expected for the Dad's Day meeting despite a possibility of rain and snow by game time. The game will be televised regionally.

Unlike recent years, the game won't have a direct bearing on the Western Conference championship. Wisconsin currently is running fourth with a 3-2 record, while Illinois is in seventh place with a 2-3 mark.

At least three times before during the 32-game rivalry the two teams bounced each other out of the title. Wisconsin applied the crusher in 1950. Illinois' turn came up the following year and the Badgers threw a block on Illini hopes for an undisputed crown in 1953.

Illinois hasn't beaten the Badgers since 1951 and hasn't won a game at Camp Randall since 1943.

Both teams have made one backfield change. Glenn Beston, a 6-1, 209-pound junior, will start at fullback for Wisconsin in place of the injured Charlie Thomas, who suffered a sprained ankle last week. Thomas may see some action, however. Abe Woodson will start at right halfback for Illinois, spelling Mickey Bates.

Miami Hurricanes With Gene Reeves Nip Bucknell 46-0

MIAMI, Fla. (P) — Miami's Hurricanes abandoned their ground attack almost entirely Friday night and a new quarterback, sophomore Gene Reeves, pitched them to an easy 46-0 victory over Bucknell.

Jack Losch, Miami's best "home run" threat, raced 90 yards for a touchdown on the Hurricanes' first scrimmage play.

But thereafter the Hurricanes used the game largely for passing practice.

Reeves threw touchdown passes of 30 yards to Phil Bennett and 16 yards to Jerry Janusz and scored another himself on a five-yard end sweep after putting the ball in position with two long throws to Janusz.

Whitley Rouviere tore through Bucknell's left tackle on a 17-yard scoring burst after Sam Scarneck had thrown 36 yards to Bennett.

In the last period, fourth-string players got Miami's last two touchdowns. Terry Stewart raced back 75 yards with an intercepted pass for one of the scores and John Siegel plunged eight yards for the other.

Thirteen playoff games in the Class A Eastern League drew 23,382 fans this season as compared with 15,621 onlookers for 15 games in 1954.

Today's College Grid Activity May Produce Year's Oddest Results

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A football takes some funny bounces and so do football games. And while the effects of rebounds by beaten teams are well known, there's another bouncing factor that may produce some odd results in Saturday's major college games.

A team that has won a few big games and starts looking past a lightly-regarded opponent is likely to suffer a letdown with painful consequences. About half the teams listed in the nation's top ten in this week's Associated Press poll fall into that classification while only one is among the rebounders.

Starting at the top, unbeaten Oklahoma, ranked No. 1, could be looking right past Iowa State toward next week's tilt with Nebraska, which currently is tied with the Sooners for the Big Seven lead.

UCLA, No. 4, faces a so-so Washington team before its Pacific Coast Conference title bout with Southern California.

Notre Dame, No. 5, almost had its letdown against Penn last week but won handsily after a first half scare. The Irish face a similar situation Saturday against North Carolina with the big ones against Iowa and Southern California still in the future.

Texas A. and M., No. 9, the Southwest Conference leader, plays Rice, the last-place team in that league, Ohio State, No. 10, the Big Ten pace-setter, has a fairly rugged assignment against Iowa but the decisive game against Michigan is

N'Western Raps St. James 20-6; Thomas Stars

PALMYRA — (Special) — Coach Cecil McVey's Northwestern Wildcats ended their 1955 football season yesterday afternoon by defeating visiting St. James of Springfield 20-6. The victory gives the Wildcats a 4-4 mark for the season.

Gary Thomas was the big gun for the winners. The Northwestern back scored three touchdowns, one on a 30 yard pass from Gary Turner. Turner added two extra points with his place kicking. The other two Thomas touchdowns came on runs of 10 and six yards.

St. James' lone TD came in the third quarter when Baugh took the ball from the Wildcat quarterback and raced 40 yards to score.

El Chama Cops Washington International

By GEORGE BOWEN

LAUREL, Md. (P) — El Chama justified his owner's confidence in paying his way from Venezuela Friday by winning the fourth Washington, D. C., International in a photo finish over his fellow South American, Predase, before a Laurel record crowd of 32,450.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast was third and Ireland's Panasilipper fourth among the field of 13.

Carlos Vogeler Rincones insisted on paying his El Chama's way after Laurel had invited only Predase.

Predase had beaten El Chama in the Simon Bolivar race just before the invitation was issued.

It was the seventh victory in 11 races this year for the 4-year-old El Chama and was worth $50,000 to his owner. He ran the mile and half in 2:36 1-5 on a soft track in sunny, mild weather.

While El Chama was beating Predase by a head, Social Outcast, who went off the 2-1 favorite, was finishing three-quarters of a length behind. It was another eight lengths before Panasilipper showed up fourth.

El Chama, coupled in the betting field with Canada's Prefect, paid a huge $41.00, $16.20 and $7.00. Predase paid $20.80 and $10.40 and Social Outcast $3.60.

Roodhouse Tops White Hall 13-6

ROODHOUSE — (Special) — The Roodhouse Railroaders defeated White Hall 13-6 here yesterday afternoon in the annual Armistice Day contest between the two Illinois Valley clubs.

Roodhouse scored in the opening quarter after recovering a White Hall fumble on White Hall's 10 yard line. Hembrough went over for the TD and Cooper added the extra point.

The Railroaders' second touchdown came at the beginning of the second half when Hembrough took the opening kickoff and raced 90 yards to score.

White Hall's TD came on a six yard plunge by Paul Carter in the fourth period.

JOE GIARDELLO FREED FROM PRISON

PHILADELPHIA (P) — Joe Giardello, 24, onetime middleweight contender, Friday was freed from prison on parole after serving three months and three weeks on an assault charge.

Giardello had been sentenced to 18 months for beating a South Philadelphia gasoline station attendant in a brawl in October 1954.

Jacksonville Rallies In Final Minutes; Scott Scores 3 Times

The Jacksonville Crimsonson scored two touchdowns in the final six minutes to overcome a 12-6 deficit and hand visiting Hannibal a 19-12 setback in the final game of the year for the Crimsonson. The Crimsonson, playing without quarterback Bill Lewis after the first four minutes, came back strong to win the game and end the season with a very respectable 6-2-1 record. This is the same record they had last year.

Lewis Booted
Lewis, the Crimsonson's star quarterback and a near 60 minute man, was ejected from the contest early in the opening quarter on an unnecessary roughness penalty. His place was taken by Jack Fairfield, who has been at end all year, and by Danny Woodward.

Scott Sparks Drive
Going into the fourth and final quarter the Crimsonson were trailing 12-6. With some seven minutes remaining, Tom Coats recovered a Hannibal fumble on the Hannibal 21 yard line and set the stage for the touchdown that tied the score at 12 all. An offensive pass interference penalty against Jacksonville moved the ball back to Hannibal's 34. However, on fourth down and several yards to go, a pass from Fairfield to Larry Scott, who was the Jacksonville workhorse on offense, moved the pigskin to the six yard line. On a quick opener, Scott carried it over to tie the score 12-12. Jim Green's attempted conversion was blocked.

It looked as if this might be the final score since only a few minutes remained in the contest. However, Mike Hudson's kickoff hit a Hannibal performer and was recovered by Jacksonville on Hannibal's 42 yard line to set up the winning touchdown. A 15 yard penalty against the visitors moved the ball to the 24 before Scott and Bill Nunn went to work and manufactured the final TD. Scott finally went over from the two yard line on fourth down and one yard to go. This time a pass from Fairfield to Coats connected to make the final outcome 19-12.

With some two minutes left to go, Hannibal took to the air but a pass interception by Nunn stopped their drive and let the Crimsonson run the clock out. Danny Woodward took over the quarterbacking duties from Fairfield who was forced to leave the game with an injured ankle.

Hannibal Scores First

An intercepted pass followed by two fifteen yard penalties plus runs by Tucker, Palchen and Raglin accounted for Hannibal's first touchdown. Tucker finally went over from the 17 yard line on an end around play. The try for extra point was blocked.

The visitors scored again early in the second period. A JHS gamble on fourth down and one yard to go on their own 20 yard line that failed set up this touchdown. Raglin went 20 yards around right end for the TD. However, the try for extra point failed but the visitors enjoyed an early 12-0 lead.

Jacksonville, having a rough time getting started with Lewis out of the game and Skip Dyer sidelined with a bad leg, put together an 80 yard march in this second quarter to score its first touchdown.

Runs by Scott and Nunn again were instrumental in this score. Scott got 30 yards on one play around left end and Nunn got 20 yards on a hand off from Fairfield. Scott finally went across from the six yard line. This was the senior halfback's first of three touchdowns for the night.

The score at halftime was 12-6 in favor of Hannibal.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—A two-way market developed for butcher hogs Friday as salable receipts slumped to 7,000 head.

Shippers were active for butchers scaling under 220 pounds and paid 25 to 50 cents higher prices. However, heavier weights, as well as sows, were steady to 25 cents down. Local packers were closed.

A top of $14.00 was paid for one load of 210 pound offerings. Most 190 to 220 pounders sold at $13.25 to $13.75 and 225 to 240 pounders at $12.75 to $13.50. Sows sold from $11.00 to $12.25.

Only 800 salable head arrived in the cattle section, consisting mostly of cows. Prices were quoted steady. Choice steers brought $19.00, the top.

Buyers paid $8.00 to $10.50 for utility and commercial cows with some heifer types at $12.00. Cutters and canners brought $6.00 to $8.00. Good to choice veal calves went at $12.50 to $14.00.

Salable sheep receipts totaled 300. Prices were quoted nominally steady. A few good to choice woolled lambs brought $17.50 to $19.50.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market resumed its recovery advance Friday and pushed hard toward the old record high marks of last September.

The drive ahead followed a one-session breather when the market was mixed to lower.

Prices were up 1 to around 5 points at the best with losses held to a low point.

The rise was accomplished in the semi-holiday day atmosphere of Veterans Day. Banks were closed, but most businesses were open.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $2.20, one of the best in a month, and closed at $177.30. The record peak of Sept. 23 was $181.50.

The industrial component of the average was ahead $2.50, rails were up $3.00, and utilities were up 40 cents.

The force of the advance was dimmed by the fact that the market was the narrowest in more than two years with only 1,074 individual issues traded. Of these, 582 were higher and 268 lower with 38 new highs and 9 new lows for the year scored.

Volume also was low with 2,000,000 shares traded. That compares with 2,550,000 shares traded Thursday.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on volume of 690,000 shares as compared with 670,000 shares traded Thursday.

The bond market was higher. The over the counter market for U. S. government issues was closed for Veterans Day.

GRAINS ADVANCE IN ACTIVE BUYING

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains mostly advanced on the Board of Trade Friday although they closed slightly under the day's best prices. Buying started first in soybeans, spreading to other cereals later. Trading was fairly active. A lower than expected government crop estimate provided the main stimulus for beans.

Despite the upturn all cereals closed lower for the week. It was the first time in the last three weeks that they have gone down. Wheat closed 1/4 lower to 3/4 higher than Thursday, corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, oats 3/4 higher, rye 1/2-1 1/4 higher, soybeans 2 1/2 to 3 cents higher and lard 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher.

A government estimate this year's soybean crop would total 371,898,000 bushels provided the initial buying stimulus in beans. This was lower than last month's estimate of 374,898,000 bushels, a surprise to many traders who had expected an increase.

From the start of the summer the estimate on soybean production has gone steadily downward. On Aug. 1 the government estimated the crop at 420,043,000 bushels.

An additional help to soybeans was a report Argentina had asked the United States for around 20 million dollars worth of vegetable oils, including soybean oil. Payment would be made in Argentine currency with the United States spending the money in Argentina.

Corn and oats attracted a little demand on cold wave warnings for parts of the Midwest livestock feeding belt. However, cash corn receipts were fairly large, helping to hold the advance in check.

The Weather Bureau's five day outlook foresaw temperatures running 10 to 15 degrees below normal in much of the Midwest. Traders felt this would increase the consumption of corn on farms.

CAR HITS DEER NEAR WINCHESTER

State police reported Thursday evening that a deer was struck and injured by an automobile about 5:15 o'clock, four miles west of Winchester on U. S. Routes 36-54. The deer sustained a broken leg, and was taken to the home of Paul Evans nearby.

The State Department of Conservation was notified of the deer's injury.

While not plentiful in this section of the state, deer are sighted frequently on farms and along highways.

ITALIAN OSCARS

ROME, Italy (AP)—Italy is going to have its own movie Oscars. They'll be called the Golden David Award (Premio David d'oro) and will be a one kilogram, solid gold reproduction of Donatello's famous statue of David.

There will be seven presentations annually. Two will go to the two best Italian film productions, one to the outstanding male and female Italian stars and two to the two best non-Italian films shown in Italy.

There are as many as 750,000 tiny air cells in an ordinary bottle cork.

To Insure Kubitschek Installation

Although British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay joined with Dulles in expressing hope that Molotov's opposition here was "not the Soviet Union's last word," they obviously expected no conciliatory gesture from him before the conference break-up.

To no avail, Dulles undertook to meet Molotov's objection that the Eisenhower plan failed to cover American foreign bases or the armed forces of Allied powers.

Noting that Britain and France have already expressed approval, Dulles said the United States would be prepared "to proceed promptly" to negotiate with "40 to 50" nations for the plan's extension to U.S. overseas bases and to these nations' own forces "on a reciprocal, equitable basis."

Dulles declared Russia as well as the United States has "substantial military forces" beyond its borders.

"Certainly, the government of the Soviet Union will not deny that it maintains substantial forces in East Germany, Poland, Hungary, Romania, and other places and locations," he said.

Regarding Molotov's complaint that aerial photograph would require "enormous new expenditures" and have to be endlessly repeated, Dulles answered:

"It is quite true that there would be considerable expense and that planes and technical facilities might have to be diverted from purposes of war to purposes of peace. The United States, I may say, is prepared to do that. I can not believe that any country would really refuse to embark on a great project for peace because it required a diversion of resources from war."

Another objection—that the plan did not incorporate Premier Bulganin's proposal of ground control posts at key centers—was answered by Dulles with a quotation from the President's Oct. 11 letter to the Soviet leader. In this letter, Bulganin was assured that if he felt his own proposal "would help to create the better spirit I refer to, we could accept that, too."

executive another "brief and preliminary" checkup on his arrival at the White House, Hagerty said, and arranged a more detailed one later.

Eisenhower's only plans for Friday night were to spend the evening with his family—including the three grandchildren, David, Barbara Ann and Susan, who greeted him as soon as he entered the White House from the south grounds.

Repeatedly on the drive from the airport, Eisenhower waved his hand to crowds lining streets on which troops were stationed, five paces apart, as an honor guard on the route from Memorial Bridge to the executive mansion.

The biggest crowd was at the White House where many of the well-known carried hand-printed signs. One read: "We like Ike home again."

The transparent top of the long black Lincoln gave the crowds a fine view of the Eisenhowers. Mrs. Eisenhower, on her husband's left, wore a large spray of orchids and looked radiantly happy.

White House staff members, gathered at the south entrance, gave the first family a rousing welcome. They presented a bouquet of red roses to Mrs. Eisenhower. Inside, freshly cut fall flowers—bronze chrysanthemums, more roses and orchids—glowed in their vases.

The welcome back delegation at the airport included members of Congress from both parties, Cabinet members and foreign diplomats. Surrounding the area where the plane landed were troops with polished rifles glistening in the sun.

Airport buildings were plastered by Young Republican groups with black and red signs such as "welcome Ike" and "Hi, Ike, Health and Happiness."

Mrs. Eisenhower appeared first in the door of the plane. Then the President came to her side and held her elbow, as he always does, while they descended to a small platform at the foot of the ramp.

On the flight from Denver Eisenhower had napped for a while and, when flying over his home town of Abilene, Kan., went forward and sat with crew members in the flight deck for a better look.

The Columbine III flew a little south of its planned route to avoid choppy weather and cloud formations. It also flew at 17,000 feet, most of the way, rather than the planned 11,000 because the lower air was bumpy.

Mrs. Eisenhower prefers to fly at low altitudes but Hagerty, who relayed word of the flight from the Columbine to the accompanying press plane by radio, said she suffered no discomfort in the pressurized cabin.

With Hagerty's permission the press plane pulled alongside the Columbine III near Kansas City so photographers could make pictures of the President's Super Constellation. Hagerty said the President and Mrs. Eisenhower were on the side of the Columbine toward the press plane, with Mrs. Eisenhower waving.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower left Denver in raw, misty 36-degree weather. "Feeling fine and ready to go" was the President's word this morning to doctors who have attended him at Fitzsimons Army Hospital where he has spent the past seven weeks.

The doctors agreed with their patient. The final medical bulletin said he had a good night's sleep of more than seven hours and "awoke feeling refreshed and in a cheerful mood."

Wearing his favorite camel's topcoat, brown slacks and a sports coat, Eisenhower walked from the hospital to a waiting car with Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud.

Then, at Lowry Air Force Base, he spoke to the American people by radio and television for the first time since his Sept. 24 heart attack.

He said he was "eternally grateful" to all those who have cared for him—and to the thousands all over the world who have sent their good wishes and offered up their prayers.

Of his weeks as a patient the chief executive said:

"Such a time is not fully a loss. Misfortune, and particularly the misfortune of illness, brings to all of us an understanding of how good people are."

MUSIC PUPILS OF MRS. PAUL LANGDON PRESENT RECITAL

Piano pupils of Mrs. Paul Langdon presented an informal recital recently for parents and members of the immediate families at the Langdon home, south of Murrayville.

After group singing, accompanied by Sue Blackburn, three selections each were played by Minta Thies, Joyce Lonergan, Paula Thies, Mary Elaine Langdon, Sue Blackburn and Charlot Range.

Piano duets were presented by Minta Thies and Paul Thies, Joyce Lonergan and Mary Elaine Langdon, Charlot and Guylla Range and Mrs. William Blackburn and her daughter, Sue.

Vocal numbers included a solo by Minta Thies accompanied by Paul Thies and a duet by Joyce Lonergan and Mary Elaine Langdon, accompanied by Sue Blackburn.

After the program refreshments were served by the girls and the group enjoyed the balance of the evening socially.

METHODIST CLASS AT MANCHESTER TO HAVE XMAS BAZAAR

MANCHESTER—The Golden Rule circle of the Manchester Methodist Sunday school was entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Wilkey in Murrayville. Roll call was answered by 13 members.

Helen Miller led the devotions. The business session was conducted by the vice president, Faye Clark. Viola Travis gave a very interesting report on attending the 15th anniversary of the Murrayville WSCS society.

The decorating and advertising committee for the Christmas bazaar to be held Dec. 3 was announced. Report that money collected in the recent Unicef drive had been remitted and was termed a success. Announcement was made that the primary department in the church school has been fully redecorated and the Little MYF's are holding meetings semi-monthly. Virginia Funk presented a book review on A Man Called Peter and used the book, Mr. Jones, Our Master as a supplement.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilkey consisting of a dessert course and coffee.

WOMAN ROUTS THREE YOUTHFUL BANDITS

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Three teenage youths entered Mrs. Selma Young's laundrette Friday, the largest announcing "this is a stick-up."

The 56-year-old woman picked up an ash tray, hurled it at its face, but missed.

He seized her right wrist but Mrs. Young is left handed.

She reached under the counter with her left hand for a pick handle, and began swinging, landing three resounding blows on the ring-leader's head.

The three youths fled empty-handed.

FILLING ORDER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Public relations man Bob Steinfeld's eating smorgasbord three times a day.
The stuff even marches toward him in his dreams. He called a restaurant to provide party chow for 29 friends.

One friend who went to pick up the food called excitedly: "There must be a mistake. I'll take a truck to haul the stuff home."

Bob ordered in terms of units and the caterer thought in terms of 50s. Out came 1,000 pieces of smok-

Son Kills His Father, Accidentally Wounds Mother After Quarrel

LeRoy (Pee Wee) Gilpin, 39, was slain at 6:15 p.m. Friday and his wife, Ileana Henry Gilpin, 37, was wounded by a pistol fired by their son, Dale, 16, following a dispute between father and son at their home, 1043 N. Diamond street.

The son was being held for investigation at the city jail last night.

John W. Marshall, Retired Railroad Man, Dies Friday

A retired Washash Railroad employee, 84-year-old John William Marshall of 345 Webster avenue, Jacksonville, died at 10:30 a.m. Friday in Passavant hospital. He had been a patient since Oct. 24.

Marshall was born Feb. 12, 1871, in Markham, Ill., the son of the late Robert and Margaret DeLapp Marshall. He married Henrietta Killam, who survives, Nov. 26, 1895.

In addition to his wife, Marshall is survived by one son, Clifford Marshall of Maywood, Ill.; four daughters, Miss Opal Marshall of Clinton, Iowa, Mrs. Leon Bogele of Downers Grove, Ill.; Mrs. Martin Gaff of Joy, Ill., and Miss Zoe Marshall of 345 Webster avenue, Jacksonville; three brothers, Ray Marshall of St. Louis, Thomas Reon Marshall of Lincoln, Ill., and Gordon Marshall of Jacksonville; two sisters, Mrs. Harry Snyder and Mrs. Albert Killam, both of Jacksonville.

One sister, two brothers and two children preceded him in death.

Before moving to Jacksonville, Marshall was a storekeeper and postmaster at Markham. Here, he was a telegrapher and ticket agent for the Washash Railroad. He retired Jan. 1, 1940.

He was president of the Liberty Cemetery Association and a member of Ridgely Encampment No. 9, of Grace Methodist church, and of Jacksonville's Urania Lodge 243, I.O.O.F.

The body is at the Williamson Funeral Home in Jacksonville, where services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Monday with Dr. Frank Marston officiating. Burial will be made in Liberty cemetery.

Members of Urania Lodge 243, I.O.O.F., will attend the services in a group.

The family will meet friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday at the funeral home.

Claim Antibiotics Will Give Fresher, Juicier Meats

CHICAGO (AP)—Representatives of the nation's meat industry were told today that the use of antibiotics soon may result in fresher, juicier and more tender meats reaching America's dinner tables.

Researchers said good results were obtained both when antibiotics were injected into the live animal just before slaughter or when meat cuts were dipped into an antibiotic solution immediately after slaughter.

They described the technique at the annual meeting of the American Meat Institute, which represents the bulk of the nation's meat packers.

They explained that the antibiotics destroy the bacteria that cause spoilage. Live healthy animals have a built-in mechanism that keeps these bacteria in check. After the animal is killed, however, the invaders are free to multiply rapidly and cause spoilage.

Only "trace amounts" of the antibiotic are needed, they said, adding that what little may remain is destroyed in cooking.

Dr. H. G. Luther, director of agriculture research and development for Chas. Pfizer & Co., a pharmaceutical concern, described how he injected tetracycline into the animal shortly before slaughter.

He said meat from an animal thus injected can be aged at higher temperatures than is otherwise possible, permitting a more nearly normal tenderizing action by the enzymes in the meat itself.

He said such meats can be satisfactorily kept without refrigeration for as long as three days after slaughter at temperatures as high as 95 degrees Fahrenheit.

OFFICIAL JOB HUNTER

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—If you think it's tough to find a job, talk to James Oberst. He has to look for 200 of them. And since March, he has found only 100.

Employers of prospective parolees from the Kentucky State Reformatory and Penitentiary just aren't easy to find.

In fact, James W. Hughes, director of the Bureau of Correction warned Oberst, a placement representative, "You'll be lucky to find one a month at first."

He is now placing about two men a month while tracking employers all over the state. He estimates he has interviewed around 375 prospective employers at the rate of about 10 a day.

"One manufacturer in Louisville, told me that the parolee he hired was better than the average man that comes into his company for a job. As a matter of fact, he said that he was the best man he had ever had for that particular job."

Centenary Continues Building Campaign

Gordon Walker, a Jacksonville hardware dealer, was elected chairman of the Centenary Methodist church building program fund follow-up committee at a special meeting.

Other officials elected were Roy E. Warner, chairman of collections; Bill Buchanan, chairman of new subscriptions; Paul Schildman, social chairman.

Walker said the first phase of raising money for the Centenary building fund has been brought successfully to a close. The campaign will now move into the second stage with Buchanan directing the new subscriptions.

The committee convened this week and decided that the new "909" club consisting of members who are willing to make calls, will be formed in near future. The committee members feel certain that since many of the families were absent during the recent campaign, more pledges will be forthcoming in the second stage of the effort.

The committee also decided that the congregation and interested people should be kept informed weekly as to the program of the building fund.

"There is a definite need for church school rooms at Centenary," Walker said. "I feel sure that with the congregation working diligently toward this goal it is only a matter of time before these needs will be met adequately."

Mamie's Home; WhiteHouse Lights Shine Out Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Folks going home to dinner Friday night in the early winter dusk saw the White House gleaming with lights. That's the way Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower likes it to be.

She thinks it betokens good cheer within if a home's living room shades are up and the lights shine forth.

One of the first instructions she gave the White House staff after she and President Eisenhower moved in back in January 1953, was: "Don't draw the curtains on the main floor."

And Friday night the White House, set back amid trees that have nearly lost all their leaves, was aglow downstairs and up. Lights gleamed on the north and south porticos, too.

"First time the lights have been on like that since the President and Mrs. Eisenhower went to Denver back in August," said a guard at the White House gate. "It does look cheerful."

Within the lighted mansion there was quiet good cheer—and thankfulness. Doctors making a quick check found he made the trip with no fatigue. Nor did the cheering welcome he got from crowds along the way from the airport to the White House tire him.

In addition to its lightness and resilience, cork is almost impervious to gases and liquids.

Rev. Ends' Pastorate Extended Three Years

At a special called meeting of the congregation earlier this year, the Jacksonville Church of the Nazarene extended to its minister, the Rev. Anton Ends, a unanimous three-year call to continue as pastor.

The local church under his leadership has seen a marked increase in each department. Church membership shows a net increase of 25 per cent; the church school has been improved by the addition of a junior department, opening of a nursery and an increased attendance of over 250 per cent; the missionary society has been reorganized into an active body with the cooperation of Mrs. Calvin Buchanan and Mrs. Anton Ends. The regular services have increased both in attendance and spiritual life.

REV. ANTON ENDS

In accepting the call to pastor of the church for the next three years, Rev. Ends urged his congregation to help him make their church one of the brightest lights for spiritual help and salvation in the Jacksonville area.

An initial step toward accomplishing this is the beginning this week of "The Revival Hour" to be held each Sunday evening at 7:30. "Christ Can Meet Your Need" will be the theme behind the pastor's messages each evening. John Payne of this city will include group and individual singing.

It is intended that these services shall be informal, with the spirit of evangelism, which has been characteristic of the church since its beginning, prevailing. There is a friendly welcome awaiting every one at this service and all other services of the church.

Winter's Cohorts, Cold, Snow Attack West, Central U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cold and snow chilled large areas in the western and central regions of the United States Friday.

Frigid air poured across the Northern Plains. The temperatures plunged to 5 below zero in the early afternoon in Cutbank, Mont.

Snow continued in the Western Plains and Northern Rockies.

The fresh fall deepened snow on the ground to nine inches at Cheyenne, Wyo., to six inches at Rock Springs, Wyo., and to five inches at Casper, Wyo.

Colorado's snow ranged up to five inches in depth. Snow and ice made roads treacherous in Colorado and Wyoming. Highway patrols recommended that driving be held to a minimum. Many cars skidded off the roads in Wyoming.

The first snow of the autumn fell over most of Washington State. It reached depths up to four or five inches in the northwestern section of the state.

Across the border, a wintry gale with gusts up to 71 m.p.h. caused widespread damage in British Columbia.

A cold wave rolled into the central section of the nation. Afternoon temperatures were in the 20s and low 30s in the Northern Plains. Much of the Midwest expected overnight temperatures well under the freezing level.
